

Doctoral degree programs, also known as Ph.D. programs, are the most advanced type of degree program available. Admittance into a doctoral degree program may require individuals to hold a master's degree.

Doctorate of Education or Ed.D program is designed to prepare scholars and leaders in teaching, policy construction and professional practice. Ed.D graduates have the knowledge and advanced research skills to make positive impacts on the delivery and quality of educational programs. There are several opportunities for those who have achieved an Ed.D, including roles as members of university faculty, policymakers, researchers and educational leaders in public and private areas of learning.